Why is reading so important at Highfields?

At Highfields we are passionate about promoting reading!

Research shows that reading for pleasure has a significant impact on academic achievement, supporting students to widen their range of vocabulary and develop their ability to write with precision and creativity.

However, it is also important to acknowledge the importance of the pleasure and imaginative aspects of reading. Through reading children are free to choose the worlds they visit, the characters they meet, the points of view they encounter and the visions they create.

What's on offer at Highfields?

We have a variety of opportunities for readers to enjoy at Highfields:

- Carnegie Reading groups
- Author visits and trips
- Wide range of brand new reading books in our LRC
- Word of the Week!
- Reading time during registration
- Literacy Ambassadors scheme
- Paired Reading
- Reading based 'starter activities'
- World Book Day!
- International Poetry Day
- Recommended reading lists for each year group
- Reading Passports
- The 'H' Magazine
- Reading each term assemblies.

Supporting your child with reading

Research shows that parents play a key role in helping children to develop a love of reading. Try these tips to encourage your child to enjoy reading at home.

- Let your child see you reading!
- Let your child choose what to read, rather than choosing what you think they should read.
- Encourage your child to read magazines, comics, newspapers and the internet as well as books.
- Talk to your child about books or magazines you haven't enjoyed, as well as things you love.
- Make time to read together if you can.
- Buy books as presents. Don't forget TV tie-ins and books about interests such as computer games or bands.
- Remember that your child is reading when they are looking at bus timetables, menus, instructions, TV guides and the internet.
